Rival lovers, such as the playwright, August Wilson, could define the division between their characters. In his plays, the shoeshine man, Possum, is represented as a hardscrabble, hard-drinking, hard-living worldling. In the school of Denise DuPree, his character, Candy, is a white girl who in an attempt to achieve her dreams of being one of the cool girls, throws her lot in with blacks. As a character herself, Cheryl Crane, the actress who portrays Denise, brings the same commitment to her roles. It is vital that the star possesses the same fervor as the character she plays. Second, the screenwriting talents of Robert Harling and Tennessee Williams were translated successfully to the screen by the actors who played the parts. Finally, the movie was "directed," by a major screen director, Richard Brooks. Major roles: August Wilson, South African playwright who wrote twelve highly ambitious plays. His "Fences" was on Broadway for 10 years. Denise DuPree, heiress to the DuPree sausage fortune, has been in a number of critically acclaimed films and plays, including "Fences" and "One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest." Cheryl Crane, a real-life actress-turned-film star, was nominated for a Golden Globe for her performance in "Steel Magnolias."
